

Flexible Round Robin Management for Dynamic Sales Teams

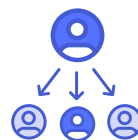

As your organization grows and scales, your team management tends to become complex. Any inefficiencies in your team management act as a catalyst for decreased sales productivity and reduced ROI.

That is why organizations with complex sales structures and dynamic sales teams need a flexible way to manage their resources as well as teams. PowerRouter provides a flexible team management mechanism that helps sales managers allocate resources efficiently and manage their teams effectively.

With PowerRouter, you can:

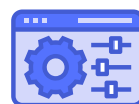

Create custom round robin teams based on territory or your organization's specific rules of engagement

Assign leads and opportunities to team members based on predefined routing rules

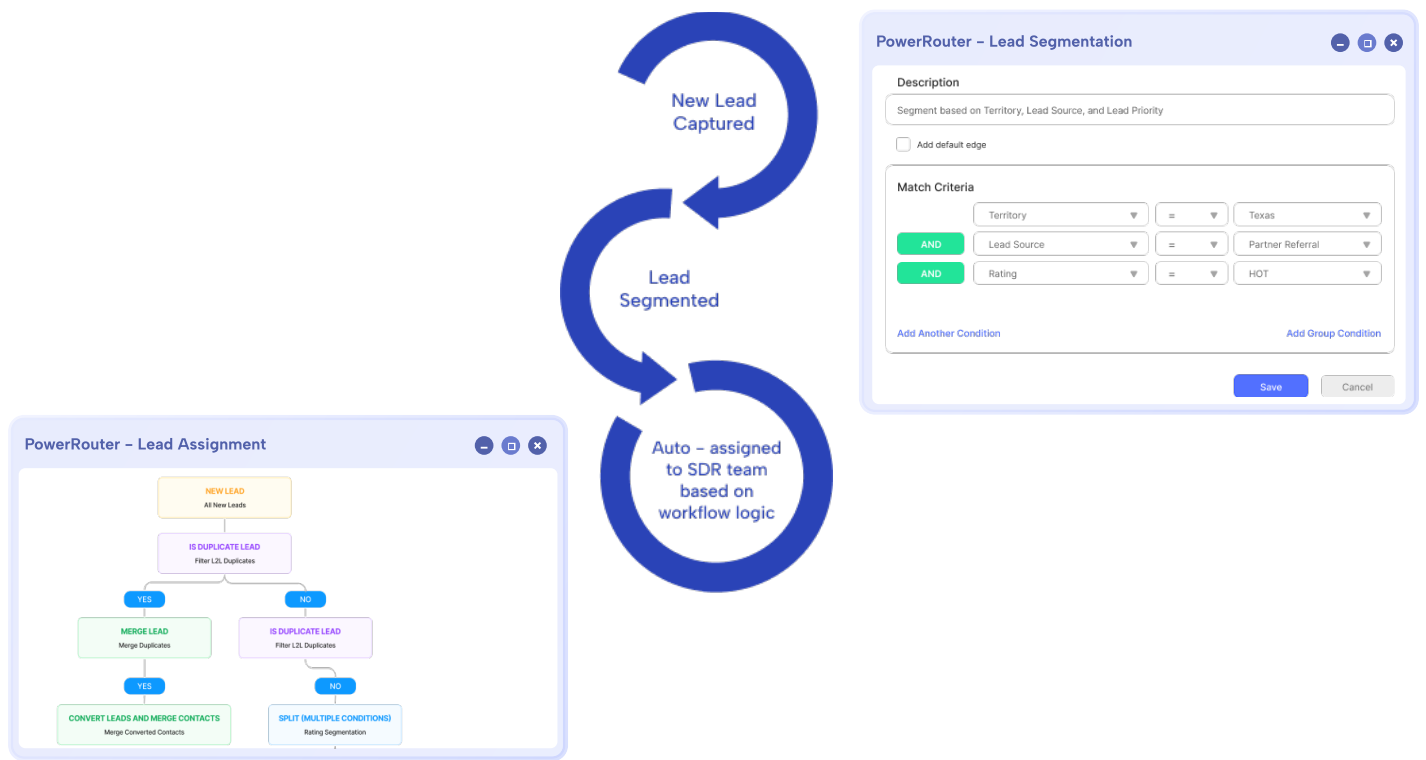

Monitor team performance and track KPIs in real-time

Configure routing rules in real-time on the fly to adapt to changes in your sales structure immediately

You can manage your teams and resources efficiently with PowerRouter's no-code tool that matches your team's agility and scale.
